NO MORE EXCUSES

dirtsuit pro edition

dirtsuit pro edition | straight cut

When it comes to wear-resistance and waterproofing, dirtlej goes one step further: the dirtsuit pro is suitable for all manner of enduro and all-mountain rides in the wet and in the greatest mudbaths. With its 15,000 mm water column, bikers get a comfortable, breathable climate inside, while the tyres send the damp and mud flying on the outside.

„No more excuses“ is not just a slogan but exactly the right attitude when bike trails beckon. With its bike one-pieces, dirtlej provides the ideal clothing for those wet and muddy days. Newly available from March 2018, the dirtsuit pro edition is the fifth member of the collection and impresses with its tough materials and high-quality finish. Thanks to its 10,000 g/m<sup>2</sup>/24h breathability, this waterproof one-piece ensures good air permeability. In contrast, waterproof zips and sealed seams keep the suit securely dry on the inside – no matter what’s happening outside on the bike. Eight large vents can be opened as required to ensure that fresh air circulates. This suit is fitted with four large pockets so that small items, valuables or other accessories are never far from reach.

In filthy weather or when bike trips extend into the evening hours, visibility also comes into play and this is why the dirtsuit pro edition is fitted with a reflective stripe on the back.

dirtsuit pro edition

The dirtsuit pro edition is available from April 2018 and also in a women's version – the ladies' cut. Though here at dirtlej, we're aware that female bikers are just as happy in the saddle wearing the Unisex, "straight-cut" version. The straight-cut version comes in an attractive blue-green, while the closer-fitting ladies'-cut one-piece is in grey with zip fasteners in a cheery, feminine pink. As you would expect, both versions have a helmet-compatible and practical fold-away hood.

Whether it's blowing a gale, pouring with rain or even snowing on the outside, active bikers wearing the dirtsuit pro edition can be sure of remaining clean and dry from head to toe.
