

dirtsuit core edition

dirtsuit core straight cut

Good news for bad weather forecasts: the dirtsuit core edition got a revision and will be back in stock with a higher water column and better breathability in autumn 2018. On top of this the waterproof, breathable bike onsie defies rain, snow and mud also as a ladies' cut and gleams in two colours. The dirtsuit core edition stays the ideal partner for enduro or downhill tours on rainy, muddy days.

With its robust, waterproof three-layer membrane the high-performance dirtsuit is made for the roughest conditions. In autumn 2018 the established model will be launched as a new model and with a ladies' cut for the first time.

Lauded and unaltered: The loose fit does not restrict while pedaling and two waterproof stretch-segments on the back provide freedom of movement on the trail. The adjustable belt takes care of a comfortable fit, the area between the legs is enhanced by a seamless, robust material.

Its removable legs and the stowable hood make it the perfect companion for the wet season. Through its multiple air inlets the temperature can be easily managed and the suit is comfortable to wear for considerable time.

The hood that fits over the helmet can be furled and stored in a breath if needed. The bright colours of the zippers care for glee and visibility on rainy days. A reflective pattern on the back creates additional visibility from the back.

The onsie does not only protect from wind and weather but also the setting between bikepark and shower. Thus the way back home becomes a clean business and the dirtsuit waits on its next assignment.

Dress, mudbath, undress – like new.

The new dirtsuit core edition is available as unisex model and as “ladies cut”-version from September 2018.
